Your PIP benefit appeal

Dear Joe Bloggs

A tribunal judge has written you a message which they would like you to read. The message is in the 'directions notice' which is enclosed within this letter.

Please read the 'directions notice' and follow any instructions which are directed towards the 'appellant'. You are the appellant as the person who is making the appeal.

If the judge has asked you for more information, then send it using the instructions below.

Sending information to the tribunal

You can either send information by post or provide it over the phone, by calling the number at the bottom of this letter.

If you want to send it by post then send it to the address below. Make sure it's clearly marked with your National Insurance number.
